From Norway, Spain:

Two European Students Meet 'New Families'

Amid the bustle of the San Francisco International Airport, students in the American Field Service exchange program landed Tuesday morning and were introduced to their new families in a formal presentation. Two of the new students are now residing in Menlo Park, and will attend Menlo-Atherton High School as seniors in the fall.

Gunvor Orstavik, from Hamar, Norway, and Juan Jose Pedreno from Cartegena, Spain, were met by their "new families", the Dr. Alexander MacKenzies and the Donald Kennedys.

All the exchange students coming to the U.S. from European countries left from Rotterdam, Holland for a ten-day voyage on the "Seven Seas" to New York City. The 950 students had time to practice their new language together and discover the views and opinions of their fellow exchange students before they docked in New York on the first leg of their new journey.

After a whirlwind one day peek at the skyscraper city, the visitors were on their way again, spreading out across the country in a fanning movement as diverse as the effort of gathering them at first from their far flung homelands..

The longest trip was taken by the west coast students, who followed paths timeworn by years in a few brief hours. Later in the year the exchange students will have a chance to visit other parts of the nation.

Gunvor's home is on lake Mjosa, the largest lake in Norway. Her home town of Hamar is not far from the capital, Oslo. Both of Gunvor's parents are practicing dentists, as is one of her older brothers. Another older brother is a doctor, her third brother is younger than she. Her plans are many and Gunvor is excited about "getting to know" her new surroundings. She wants to study architecture for her career.

Gunvor will attend classes with the MacKenzie's oldest son, David, who will be a senior at Menlo-Atherton. Another of the MacKenzie's six children, Jim, will be a sophomore. Sandy, the only girl in the family, is glad to have a "part-time" sister staying at 755 Oak Knoll lane.

Juan Jose's home, Cartegena, is in the southeastern portion of Spain. Juan plans to study law at the university when he returns home and feels that this is a very good time for him to be in this country, because he can watch first hand the electioneering and the political system of the United States in "the most important year".

Juan has two younger brothers and an older sister who was married in June. He will be staying with the Kennedy family at 273 Arden road, where he will "team up" with Bob Kennedy, a senior at Menlo-Atherton.

Juan Jose is the second exchange student to stay with the Kennedy family. Palla Savilahti of Finland spent a year in this country when Liz Kennedy was a junior. Liz will be a junior at the University of Oregon this fall. Palla is now married and attends the University of Helsinki.

Besides being interested in the political and governmental structure of this country, Juan Jose has another tie-in. It seems that his sister, mother and grandmother were all named America.

Standing Firm . . .

. . . on California soil and his interest in law and the American political system is Juan Jose Pedreno (center) from Cartegena, Spain. Juan Jose arrived Monday morning and was met by the Donald Kennedys of 273 Arden road in Menlo Park. He will stay with the Kennedys and attend Menlo-Atherton High School as a senior with Bob (left). Mrs. Kennedy is on the right.

Voters Give OK On Debt

An "overwhelming" voter turnout—on a somewhat small scale—Tuesday approved assumption by residents of a small area of Atherton of their proportionate share of bonded indebtedness of the Menlo Park City School District.

Sixty-three voters — 43 per cent of the 147 registered in the area—voted 56 to 6 in favor of accepting the additional tax load. One ballot was disqualified for improper marking.

The area, formerly a part of the Redwood City School District, had been formally annexed to the Menlo Park district by action of the County Board of Supervisors earlier this year. The action followed a long and determined campaign on the part of a few parents in the area to push through their transfer from one district to the other.

In an effort that encompassed several years of hard work they had received permission of the Redwood City jurisdiction to withdraw and of the Menlo Park district that they could join.

Action by the county supervisors made the switch official —and automatically absolved them of further responsibility for the bonded debt of their former affiliation.

On Tuesday of this week, the voters of the area involved voluntarily turned out and agreed, as a moral obligation, that they would assume their share of the Menlo Park district bonded debt.

Menlo Park district Business Manager John Richert pointed out that the 43 per cent turnout at the polls was far and away higher than any recent proportionate turnout in the rest of the school district.

"Around 35 per cent voter turnout would have been considered outstanding in school issues decided at the polls in recent years, some of them in hotly disputed matters," Richert said.

"It does these people great credit," he added.

The bonded debt tax rate in the Redwood City district, from which they were excused by the transfer, amounted to about 38 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, according to Richert. The amount the area residents voluntarily assumed will be about 22 cents, he said.

The area involved in the transfer, Richert said, is expected to add about 30 children to enrollment of the Menlo Park district. They will not, however, begin attending Menlo Park schools until the fall of 1961.

At that time, most of the children, if not all, probably will attend Encinal School. They now attend Garfield School on Middlefield road in the Redwood City district.

The area itself lies easterly from the Southern Pacific railroad between the northeasterly boundary of Atherton and Marsh road, Middlefield road and Fair Oaks lane.

Trustees of the Menlo Park district are required by law to meet and canvass the vote next Tuesday. It is not expected that a quorum of the trustees will be available at that time, however, so the meeting will be adjourned and the official count made at the Sept. 6 meeting of the board, according to Richert.

City Tax Rate Looks Higher-Isn't

Nealon Backers Huddle

Faced with a looming deadline before which they must raise another $8,500, fundraisers for the Nealon Park Recreation building have determined that they cannot wait for possible further help from the City of Menlo Park.

All officers and chairmen of the Menlo-Atherton Cooperative Nursery School, unit sponsoring the building program, will meet tonight to discuss emergency methods of guaranteeing the additional funds.

The meeting will be held at 3 o'clock at the Donald C. Minard home, 315 Hermosa way.

The Lucie Stern Foundation has allocated $5,000 to the $30,000 project provided the committee can raise the remaining $25,000 by October 25. The City of Menlo Park already has budgeted $7,000 of this figure and other donations have brought the amount now available to some $16,500, according to Mrs. Robert G. Dolton, president of the nursery school.

Mrs. Dolton said this week that the Stern foundation probably would allow some time extension on the deadline provided the fund committee can show definite plans for raising the additional sum.

The Menlo Park city council last week discussed possibility of contributing the extra $8500 as a loan to be paid back by the nursery school over a period of five years. Study of the legality of such a move and of its wisdom "as a precedent" prevent immediate action on the proposal.

"We probably won't know whether or not we can expect this help from the city until just a week or two before the deadline," Mrs. Dolton said. "We must plan right now to find other sources for the money, or we may lose out on the $5,000 offered by the foundation."

Bids for the building will be sought as soon as the $30,000 fund goal is assured, Mrs. Dolton said.

Teachers Busy Turning Out Some Real Strange Gadgets

A volunteer group of Menlo Park School District teachers this week was busy making some teaching aids for use in classrooms here this year.

The items, designed graphically to illustrate various things relating to science, arithmetic and reading, are of a type not available on the market, according to District Curriculum Consultant William Fisher.

Items are being built out of a variety of materials, most of which are readily available to teachers and children as well, he said.

Many of them—those to be used in reading instruction and in arithmetic—are even easier; they consist in large part of various kinds of "number cards" and "letter cards" which can be arranged in various combinations.

The science teaching aids being constructed by the workshop volunteers are more complicated, and of a larger variety.

Such things as hygrometers for measuring moisture content of the air can be built out of milk cartons and other easy-to-get materials; coffee can lids can be made into steam turbines and a host of other demonstration devices can be made with small pieces of wood, cardboard and string, Fisher explains.

The "workshop" will not specialize as to grade level, but its members will build items of interest to youngsters of all grade levels.

Thus, youngsters will have available such things as "foxhole radios" in the upper grades, and such things as ant colonies and termite colonies are being built for the edification of children in the primary grades.

The items are to be distributed after the start of the school term.

REAR ENTRY

Menlo Park Police officer Fred Burney discovered a loss of $75, sustained by Ken's Pancake House on El Camino, Wednesday morning on a routine check. The burglar had entered at the rear of the building.

The 'Foxhole Radio' . . .

. . . being demonstrated by Menlo Park School District Curriculum Consultant William Fisher was constructed by volunteer teachers who this week are engaged in a workshop making instructional aids of all kinds for use during the coming school year. Used to make it were a board, a cardboard tube, a razor blade, pencil lead, safety pin and wire. Displayed on the table are other samples of the teachers handiwork. —Recorder photo

3-Cent 'Hike' To District

Menlo Park has held the line on the city tax rate for 1959-60 —although a glance at your tax bill may cause you to think otherwise when it arrives later this year.

The rate will show as 76 cents per $100 of assessed value, 3 cents higher than the 1959-60 rate of 73 cents.

In this case, seeing shouldn't be believing, City Manager John R. Johnson said as he presented a $825,726 budget to the Council. The budget, up $69,571 from 1959-60, and tax rate were approved after councilmen expressed hopes the general public would understand the tax "increase."

There were no protests, vocal or written, concerning the budget or tax rate at the public hearing Tuesday night.

What has happened is that the city, through no fault of the administration, was unable to get onto the tax rolls of the South San Mateo County Refuse Disposal District for 1960-61, Johnson explained.

The district's three-cent rate thus appears as part of the city's rate for this one year and funds from the 3-cent tax will be spent on a contract between city and district.

The breakdown of the city rate as shown in the budget: General fund, 67 cents; retirement fund, 6 cents (up 2 cents); general fund for south county refuse district 1960-61 contract, 3 cents.

BOOST FEARED

It had been feared during earlier budget talks that the city's actual rate, not including the "extra" refuse district tax, would have to climb several cents.

But an increase in city assessed value beyond original estimates, plus some budget cuts, helped the administration eliminate this possibility, Johnson said.

He noted that the city, however, must dip into general reserves to the tune of some $40,000 to keep the rate stabilized.

Estimated income is $785,715,

Group Admits Error:

Tear It Down, Planners Tell Builder of Ham Radio Tower

Ham radio antennas don't belong within the city of Menlo Park if they're over 35 feet high, city planning commissioners said in effect Monday night.

They declared the telescoping 70-foot antenna built by William Orr, 48 Campbell lane in the Stanford Hills subdivision, to be a nuisance. And they told him to tear it down by Friday, Sept. 2.

Orr was not present at the meeting. On hand, however, were about 20 residents of the area, who were in apparent agreement with the commission decision.

The action apparently ended a series of hearings on the antenna matter by the city council and commission.

In telling Orr to tear the antenna down, the commission was reversing an earlier vote which had recommended approval of its construction.

In the motion made by Commissioner Arthur Stadler, the planners admitted that the architectural approval given by the commission and the issuance of a use permit to Orr "were in error."

The point at issue was interpretation of the structure height limitations in the city zoning ordinance. The planners at first took the position that since the antenna could be retracted to a height under the limitation, it was legal. Under architectural control procedure, no public hearing was required.

NEIGHBORS PROTEST

Residents of the area came out in force to protest to the city council and appeal the action, and councilmen decided public hearings were in order.

Meanwhile, Orr went ahead with construction of the tower.

At the commission hearing, protestants declared the antenna exceeded the height limit, looked like an oil derrick, would affect property values, and is in an area where all utilities, including telephone lines, are underground.

Orr has contended the antenna, when retracted, is scarcely visible from the street.

The motion read by Stadler said that the antenna, by reason of the evidence presented at the hearing, "is now in violation of Ordinance 228 of the city of Menlo Park, and is, as such, a nuisance."

It also states that "architectural approval heretofore given and the building permit . . . issued, were given and issued in error . . ." and declared them null and void.

Voting for the motion were Stadler, Don Horstkorta, Charles Anderson and George

As Tower Edict Is Made:

Orr Hosts Pitcairn Islander— He's Radio Enthusiast, Too

A ham radio operator from Pitcairn Island, a descendant of the original mutineers of the ship "Bounty," was hosted earlier this week by Mr. and Mrs. William T. Orr of 48 Campbell road in Stanford Hills.

Floyd McCoy and his wife, Violet, arrived in this country April 8 for a tour of the country—ham style. They have been visiting ham radio contacts and pen pals whom they have "met" from the island.

The couple are the first Pitcairn Islanders ever to visit the United States. In recognition of this fact, President Eisenhower sent them a welcoming letter when they first entered this country.

The McCoys stopped in Stanford Hills with the Orrs, whose collapsible antenna has recently been a contested "structure" in the area, on their way from Seattle to Los Angeles. The couple plans to attend the West Coast meeting of the Institute of Radio Engineers.

On Pitcairn Island, where ships stop infrequently to bring food and supplies from Great Britain, and where medical services consist of one trained nurse, the ham radio operators are the only emergency means of communication.

A rumored cholera plague once kept the few ships which stopped at the island away from the supposed contamination. Only ham radio operators who contacted a woman in New York were able to strike out the false rumor and bring food to the starving colony.

The United States government backs ham operators like the Orrs because of their emergency communication value.

The McCoys have visited 30 states, Niagara Falls, Vancouver and other parts of British Columbia on their tour. Before they leave in early November, they plan to take a trip into Mexico.

When the McCoys leave for their island home, they will retrace their steps back to the Canal Zone. There they will take a passenger freighter to New Zealand and a smaller ship back to Pitcairn.

RUBBISH FIRE

A rubbish fire at 5:14 Tuesday afternoon took Menlo Park Fire Protection District firemen to 149 Hawthorne drive. The small blaze caused no damage.

Middlefield, Willow Road Bids Okayed

Two bids well below the estimates made by City Engineer Ed Smith for widening of Middlefield road and resurfacing of Willow road were accepted by city councilmen Tuesday.

The major job contract, that for widening Middlefield to four lanes between Ravenswood avenue and the Linfield Oaks area near Willow road, went to Douglass and Woodhouse of Redwood City.

The company bid $20,646.30 as compared to Smith's estimate of $22,500. A total of nine bidders competed with high bid of $26,808.50 listed by O. C. Jones and Sons.

Other bidders were Freeman Paving Co., Kunz Paving Co., Bragato Paving Co., F.F. & M. Co., C. J. Wood & Co., Sondgroth Brothers, and F. D. Sperry Co.

Freeman was low in the Willow road resurfacing bidding, coming in with $9,894 as compared to the estimate of $11,000. High bid was by the Bragato company at $11,560. Other bidders were Sondgroth and Douglass and Woodhouse.

Smith said he expected both jobs to begin in a few weeks' time.

COOKIES CAUSE SMOKE

A house full of smoke resulted when a pan of cookies burned at the home of Mrs. Claudia Sluis, 1177 Noel drive, Menlo Park. Local firemen responded to the smoke investigation call at 4:23 Monday. Only damage was that incurred by the cookies.

City Was Losing Money:

The High Cost of Planning: Application Charges Go Up

Making application for rezoning or for use permits is going to cost you more cash in Menlo Park during 1960-61.

The City Council Tuesday night approved a revised rate schedule recommended by the planning commission to get expenses of publishing notices of such actions into line with income.

The former charges were $25 for all applications. The revised schedule shows $25 per use permit, $50 per variance, $50 for rezoning applications involving one to five lots; $75 for rezoning of six to 10 lots, and an additional $5 for each lot over 10.

In other actions Tuesday night, the Council:

1. Introduced a resolution that will bring the city into an agreement with the state commission on peace officers' standards and training which will reimburse the city for rookie police officer training hours.

2. Delayed again the request of Mid-County Construction Co. that they be granted a 30-day extension of time on police station construction. Councilmen held that they still weren't fully convinced that the reasons for the request—difficulty in getting door frames and rejection by the architect of a certain kind of brick—were valid. Completion was originally slated for Sept. 30.

3. Set Sept. 13 as hearing date for planning commission recommendation on revision of apartment house yard standards, which is tied in with recent council approval of a two parking space per living unit ratio for the city.

BICYCLISTS ARRIVE

Bicyclists Joe Fessio Jr. of 1124 Windsor way in Menlo Park and a Santa Clara University friend, Bob Helmholz of Santa Ana were expected to arrive in Menlo Park yesterday evening at 7 p.m. as the Recorder went to press.

The boys flew to Chicago a month ago and purchased European 10 speed bicycles. Then they started out on a 2700 mile trip with only sleeping bags, fishing rods and a GI stove. The trip has taken them 27 days.

Derry Opposes New P.O. Site— Council Likes It

The new Oak Grove avenue site for one of two Post Office buildings to be constructed here is a good location for the postal service, City Councilmen agreed once more Tuesday night.

They were reacting to a protest of the new site by Edward Derry, owner of the building where the post office is currently located.

Derry wrote the council that the location would place too much of a burden on the adjacent parking plaza and that traffic would be congested there.

City Manager John R. Johnson noted that bids on construction of the building will be opened next Wednesday.

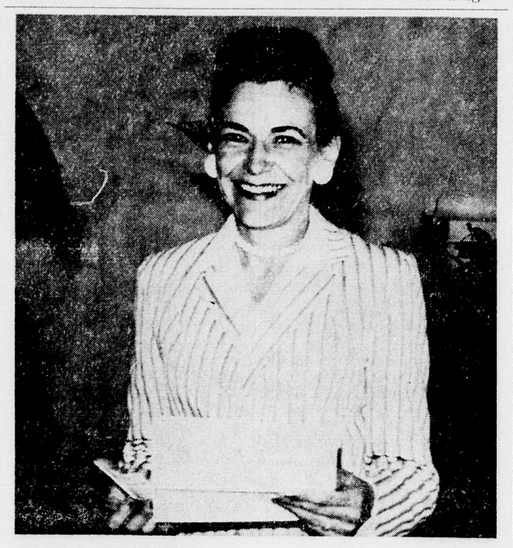

Two Businesses Prodded by City On Sales Taxes

Two Menlo Park businesses were asked by the City Council Tuesday night to show why they failed to pay sales taxes for the most recent fiscal quarter.

Ordered to appear at the Tuesday, Sept. 13, meeting were representatives of Middlefield Union Service, 40 Middlefield road, and the Golden Churn, 1149 El Camino Real.

Stanford Harmon is owner of the service station and Edmund Groth Jr. was listed as owner of the Golden Churn.

City Manager John R. Johnson said neither business has come up with sales tax receipts which were due Aug. 1. Each has received letters and telephone calls indicating the deadline was past, he said.

Bargain Carnival in Third Week

Third winner of $100 in merchandise certificates during Menlo Park's August Bargain Carnival, a month-long merchandising event, is Mrs. Herbert G. Miller, 735 Valparaiso avenue.

Mrs. Miller, who received her certificates Monday following the weekly drawing, commented, "Oh, my heavens. I never expected to win!"

She then proceeded to follow in the footsteps of the two earlier winners by adding: "This is the first time I have won anything."

Mrs. Miller is employed at the Menlo Park branch of Palo Alto Mutual Savings and Loan.

Meanwhile, Alfred Weber, chairman of the Merchants' Sale Committee, reminded all area residents that the big final drawing will be held next Monday, with $250 worth of merchandise certificates to be given away to lucky winners who have registered in one of the 28 downtown stores participating in the event.

No purchase is required, Weber emphasized, in order to register one's name for the drawings.

Wallace E. Ott Appointed to Chamber Board

Wallace E. Ott, 1120 Hillview drive, has been named to the board of directors of the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce, it was announced this week by Eugene Kerwin, chamber president.

Ott, who also serves as chairman of the board of commissioners of the Menlo Park Fire Protection District, will fill out the unexpired term of Dick Wright, who has resigned from the board. The term officially runs till June 30, 1961.

NO DAMAGE

The Menlo Park Fire District was called out Tuesday at 5:06 p.m. by a rubbish fire next to 2380 Cooley avenue in Menlo Park. No damage resulted.

Woodside Firemen Note Bigger Job

Woodside firemen last year marked up one of their best performance records to date despite an astronomical rise in amout and value of property involved.

Figures released this week by Chief John Volpiano strikingly show that only $95,277 worth of property was lost of an unprecedented $3,775,989 in total value during the 1959-60 fiscal year.

Main reason for the big jump in total value was a rash of fires in three schools and a church. Three occurred at Woodside High School, one each at the Woodside and Portola Valley schools and one at the Ladera Oaks school.

Previous high in total value was the $1,004,140 for the 1955-56 fiscal year. But the actual loss of $79,826 that year was proportionately much higher. "And we weren't faced with the new schools and mushrooming housing developments we have today," the fire chief stressed in pointing out the department's increasing high level of service.

Of the $3,775,989 total value, buildings accounted for $2,923,804, building contents for $839,850, and automobile and miscellaneous for $12,335. Of the $95,277 in losses, buildings accounted for $63,120, contents for $29,109, and automobile and miscellaneous for $3047.

Retired Colonel Is Principal At Portola School

Harold A. Davenport, 56-year-old retired U.S. Army colonel, will be the first full-time principal of the Portola Valley School this fall. He replaces Anthony L. Rose, who can now devote full time to the job of school superintendent.

Mr. Davenport taught elementary grades in Berkeley, Oakland, Kenwood and Wheatland, Calif., from 1926 to 1934, and was principal of a Burlingame elementary school from 1934 to 1940. He received his B.S. degree in business administration and economics and M.A. in education from the University of California at Berkeley.

Married and the father of three children, he retired from the army last March after service in China, Germany and presidio at San Francisco.

Kiwanis Name Nominators

Five ex-officers of the Menlo Park Kiwanis club recently were named members of the club's nominating committee to select candidates for office for the coming year.

Committee members are Gene Kerwin, Wade Miles, Warren Natwick, Kit Carlton and Jack Jorgenson.

Cornelius Wins In 4-H Judging

Howard Cornelius of Menlo Park recently was awarded five first-place awards in 4-H judging at the San Mateo County Fair, in second year agricultural mechanics.

Paul Ditzen of Woodside took a single first place and a single second-place award in the same division.

He received the award in recognition of his efforts in making 50 per cent more plant visits than the established average for his work. Col. Council Holds City Tax Rate, But Garbage Levy Ups Bill including all taxes, fees, licenses and fines. According to Johnson's current figures, this will mean a cash balance of about $106,655.80 on June 1, 1961, as compared to $139,889.95 on June 1 of this year.

'SUFFICIENT'

The city manager said he felt that this reserve would be sufficient to carry the city through the "dry" period in summer and fall before property taxes begin coming in.

Johnson said there were two "problem areas" in making his 1960-61 estimates.

One was the police department, the other the library.

Police expenses had to be estimated roughly because the new station is due for completion in late fall and there may be some expenses show up then that aren't apparent now, he said. And the library commission has suggested full city take over of services here from the county, which, if done, would mean revisions there.

Most City Council comment centered on the tax rate.

Mayor William R. Lawson and Michael Belangie said they wondered if the tax-paying public would understand why the city had to tack 3 cents on the rate to pay for the special contract with the district.

They made and then retracted a proposal that the city consider going further into reserves to make up for the apparent increase and keep the total rate at 73 cents.

Johnson said he felt this would be "unwise," and would take too much stuffing out of the city's fiscal cushion during the "dry" period.

JOIN IN APPROVAL

After further consideration, Lawson and Belangie said they would join with other councilmen in approving the rate. Johnson said he would check into Councilman Ira Bonde's suggestion that some method be sought to show on the tax bill that the refuse district's tax is included.

Belangie added: "I'd certainly like to see some way in which the district will get full credit for their own tax."

Bonde also said the city "ought to go slow" on any recommendation to take over the library completely this year.

Reason for the increase in the city employee retirement tax is that a new state formula pushed retirement contributions by the city higher than anticipated and caused a drain on the local retirement fund reserve. Johnson said it is important to keep the reserve in good condition in case of economic recession.

4 PCT. PAY HIKE

The budget also reflects a 4 per cent increase in salaries and wages for city employees, Johnson said.

Also approved Tuesday night was the city water department's 1960-61 budget.

Johnson noted that the department pays its own way and is expected to bring in $191,000 in revenue, as opposed to the budget estimate of $178,812.

This would leave a cash balance of $117,759.42 at the end of the fiscal year, a good-sized increase over the 1959-60 cash balance of $105,571.42.

Bulk of the expense in the department is the $110,000 set aside for purchase of water from San Francisco.

Cleese. Absent were Joseph Perry and James Storm. New Commissioner Robert B. Crawford was present, but abstained from voting, since it was his first encounter with the controversy.

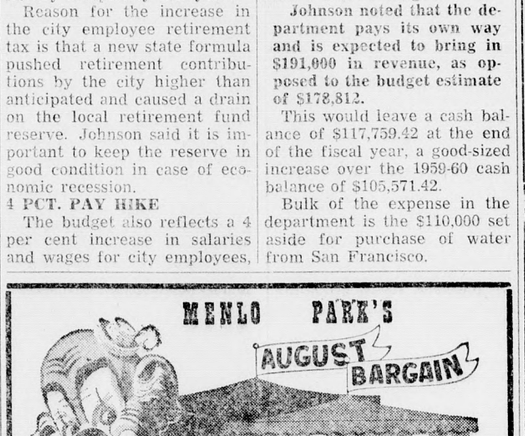

OTHER ACTIONS

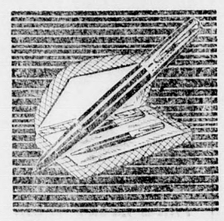

In other action, the commission came across another antenna request—this one by Herbert Nadell, owner of a new beer parlor at 201 El Camino Real.

Nadell said he wants to get a television antenna tall enough to bring in televised San Francisco pro football and baseball from Chico, Calif.

Although indications were that his request would have the chance of the proverbial snowball, Nadell said he wanted a public hearing and the commission placed his request on the Sept. 12 agenda.

Also on that meeting agenda for hearing is A. N. Gardner's request to allow construction of an educational building for the Menlo Park CME church at 1121 Berkeley avenue.

Local Democrats At State Meeting

Three local Democratic party leaders were among those attending a meeting last weekend of the executive committee of the California Council of Democratic Clubs. The meeting was held in the Hilton Inn at San Francisco Airport.

Members of the executive committee were welcomed to San Mateo County by Daniel E. Monaco, chairman of the County Democratic Central Committee.

He spoke of the importance of the 500 Democratic clubs and their more than 50,000 members in the current political campaigns.

Attending from Menlo Park were James Read, president of Menlo-Atherton Democratic Club, and Peter Benjaminson. Elizabeth Heller attended from Atherton.

New Facilities Ready at Woodside High

A large multi-purpose room with snack bar and stage facilities will be one of many new features at an expanded Woodside High School this fall. Registration of an expected 1550 students is slated for September 6, with classes beginning September 12.

The multi-purpose room, with a seating capacity of 400, and a new teachers' dining-room-workroom should be open for use by October 15, according to Vice-Principal Frank Hutchinson. He said the stage will have the very latest in lighting equipment.

Twenty-two new staff members and an additional 20 classrooms also will help service the burgeoning student enrollment, which has increased on the average of 300 annually since Woodside opened in 1958.

Girls' and boys' locker rooms in the physical education department have been doubled and the completion of a turfed football field with concrete bleachers will enable the school to have home games for the first time. Six new tennis courts, expanded parking areas and more extensive landscaping are rounding out the picture.

One corridor has been converted to a storage area in the school's efforts to economize and consolidate.

Homer Kirchner Dies During Horse Show

Funeral services will be held in Webster City, Iowa, for Homer Kirchner, long a peninsula resident and horse trainer, who suffered an apparent heart attack Saturday evening while driving in a shetland pony class at the Menlo Circus Club's Stanford Convalescent Home Horse Show.

Kirchner had just completed driving his pony, Creamcup Silver Larigo, in the Shetland pony Roadster class and was lining up for final judging when he fell from his seat. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital at 9:55 p.m.

A member of Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders, Kirchner trained horses on an Illinois farm before moving to the peninsula in the early 1940's.

Survivors include his wife, Adra Kirchner of Bloomington, Illinois; sons, Robert Kirchner of Sunnyvale, George Kirchner of Morgan Hill and Leonard Noe of Webster City, Iowa; daughters, Mrs. Isol Carlson of Northwood, Iowa, Mrs. Dorothy Dickson of Mason City, Iowa, and Mrs. Barbara Preader of Elko, Nevada. Kirchner also leaves 17 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Kirchner was 83 at the time of his death. He had been living on a Shetland pony ranch in Morgan Hill with his son, George.

In Portola Valley:

Neylan Death Stirs Anti-Incorporation Interest

Widespread expressions of sympathy and a sudden increase in new support for Portola Valley's anti-incorporation faction were reported at midweek following the recent death of John Francis Neylan.

Mr. Neylan, famed attorney and one-time regent at the University of California, was buried Monday in Holy Cross Cemetary, Colma, following an 11 a.m. solemn requiem mass at Our Lady of the Wayside Church, Portola Valley. An old friend, the Rev. John P. Cavanagh of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, Redwood City, said the mass and officiated at a rosary at Neylan's Rancho Corte Madera home Sunday evening.

New individual support of the anti-incorporation movement was termed "overwhelming" yesterday by Paul N. McCloskey, Jr., attorney handling the case. He said that Mr. Neylan's widow intends to continue with anti-incorporation proceedings as planned by her husband.

As to disposition of the Corte Madera ranch, Mrs. Neylan said: "I have no plans at the present moment . . . it's too soon to say anything." However, she verified McCloskey's statement that proceedings would go ahead as usual.

No comment was available from the pro-incorporation group, except that they will refrain from making controversial statements until the September 15 hearing on the issue before the County Board of Supervisors.

The board of supervisors adjourned their regular meeting Tuesday in memory of Mr. Neylan. In an engraved and signed statement to the Neylan family they said: "In deepest sympathy, the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo this day adjourned in respect to the memory of John Francis Neylan and by this token extends its condolences and consolation to the bereaved family and friends."

Judge Robert Peckham of the Palo Alto branch of the Santa Clara County Superior Court also adjourned his sessions last Monday in memory of the famed jurist.

Besides his widow, Mr. Neylan is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jane Neylan McBaine, and two grandsons, Pat and Jock McBaine. They attended the Monday funeral services along with a large group of friends from all parts of California. They included: Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Madison, Dr. and Mrs. John E. Wallace Sterling, Dr. and Mrs. Glenn T. Seaborg, Mrs. W. P. Roth, Mrs. Randolph Hearst, Mr. and Mrs. Roger D. Lapham, Mrs George Cameron, William F. Knowland, Joseph R. Knowland, Mrs. Thomas Carr Howe, Mr. and Mrs. James Flood, William Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ham, Mrs. Edmond D. Coblentz, Mrs. Lawrence Harris, S. Clark Beise, Sidney Ehrman, Mrs. Bart Miller Jr., Mrs. Arthur B. Dunne, and Nan Tucker McAvoy.

Localites Win In Poultry Show

Other awards in that division went to Polli Reeves, cock over one year, first place; Polli Reeves, hen over one year, first place; pullet under one year, Polli Reeves, third place; Pete Hunter, Portola Valley, 11th, pullet under one year.

As We See It:

One-Car, Two-Car . . . Where Do We Stop?

The two-car garage, as a requirement for each new apartment and home to be built in Menlo Park, is now substantially a fact. It's about time.

As a matter of fact, the day when the requirement for garage space may read, "two cars plus" may not be too far off.

And as in the case of the two-car garage, the even bigger unit of housing for transportation and other impedimenta will probably be recognized by building contractors a good while before it becomes a matter of law.

Do we think the average household may some day have more than two cars?

It might not. But the number of boats, do-it-yourself machine tools, work benches, bicycles and the like that are being sold indicate that the garage usually has to have room enough in it to house more than just the family's automobiles.

Forty years ago a one-car family was considered quite respectable. A young man, when he'd been on the job long enough to have saved the price of a used car, had reason to feel that he'd arrived.

Nowadays, the auto is a necessity. You don't have to "arrive" in order to think that you need one, wherefore parents can expect to start being bedeviled by their youngsters as soon as the latter get to an age where a driver's license is even remotely possible.

Then, there are the growing demands of "leisure." In some societies hereabouts it's considered impossible to relax unless one has a pickup truck with a cabin on the back, a boat, or a house trailer.

We must not forget the younger children, who have to park their bicycles somewhere; nor can we forget that mom can save a lot of money if she's got a home freezer. The latter usually goes in the garage, too.

It takes a lot of machinery to keep a modern family going and the trend seems to indicate it'll take more and more such machinery, through the years.

Provision to house this machinery must, of course, be made. So the three-car garage might not be too far off.

In fact, it might not a bad idea, for some families, even today.

A Few Voters Prove Principles Yet Survive

Sometimes nowadays we get the feeling that the only yardstick for human behavior is expediency.

There used to be a standard that asked: "Is it the right thing to do?"

Occasionally, now, we get the feeling that the only standard is: "Can we get away with it?"

Helping to restore our faith in human nature this week comes the vote of 56 residents of a small area in Atherton voluntarily taking on a tax burden of some 22 cents per $100 dollars of valuation—just because they felt a moral obligation—"It was right."

We salute those voters of Atherton who, at their own request, transferred out of the Redwood City School district into the Menlo Park district, went on to agree voluntarily to shoulder their share of the new district's bonded debt.

City Spending Programs Have Helped Build Menlo Park

City councilmen last week informally dissussed some "capital outlay" items which they hope to purchase within the next couple of years. A lot of the gadgetry which it is hoped the city can afford will come under the general heading of "playground and recreation equipment."

It may seem to some that, if budgets are to be cut and money to be saved, the recreation budget is the place where the cuts can best be made.

And it might seem to them also that any uncritical endorsement of all projects contemplated is pretty silly.

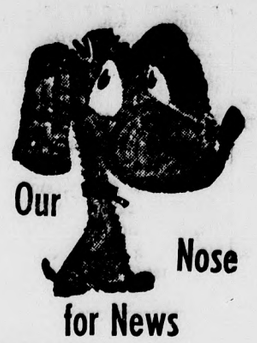

This newspaper, in general, endorses most city hall-sponsored spending programs. We feel past expenditures have been made wisely, and that they have helped make Menlo Park a better place in which to live.

We adhere, also, to the dictum that "it takes money to make money." Those expenditures each taxpayer makes for the improvement of his schools, the beautification of the city's playground, the efficiency of its police force and the maintenance of building standards is money well spent. Every taxpayer can share in the benefits if only through the realization that the value of his home has gone up, his children have better facilities for education and play than most, and that he and his family are relatively free from the concern of possible crime.

It's not necessary to look very far afield to see what can happen in a community where improvements are regarded as "too costly." Menlo Park was just such a community itself, before its incorporation in 1927. The result? Neighboring communities' police would dump vagrants in what's now the city, there was some bootlegging, and property values sank because nobody wanted to live here.

The city has come a long way. It took money to get it where it is—on the map, as a showpiece residential community.

Let's not get stuffy and decide that nothing more is needed.

Larry Belanger writes in the Placerville (Cal.) "Mountain Democrat":

"The other day I heard a tip which may or may not be useful if you carry a keyring loaded with keys. Drill a second hole in the key you use most often so it hangs off center . . . makes it easy to find. Of course, there's another way, too. Just throw away all the old keys you don't use at all. Makes it easier to keep your pants up, too."

Such a can is to be found in City Administrative Assistant Michael Bedwell's office, as a sample of what we can look forward to if an atomic war ever comes.

Also on show in Bedwell's office is a can of multi-purpose food, which is supposed to contain all the vitamins and minerals that anybody will need during a two-week stay in his fallout shelter.

Those bees in the west end of the city council chambers building have bee(g) plans. An ear-to-the-wall survey shows that they are occupying an area about three feet deep and 18 inches wide, which will hold a lot of honey if they ever get it filled.

A red tree, some masques, some squiggly things that might be dragons, fingerpaintings in bright blue, a portrait of a rooster, and some sort of a scene with pink stars all over it have replaced the clowns which were previously on display at the Menlo Park School District's central office.

The staffers in the office like the present display better.

The displays, of course, are arranged by District Art Consultant Ernest Wennhold, and are the works of children of various ages.

Sign on the front door of the Menlo Park School District's headquarters at 555 Glenwood avenue reads "Board of Education." This because of — or maybe in spiae of — the fact that the school board only meets a few hours a month at that location.

"This keeps people on their toes," he says. "They can't just look at the same chair every time for the same answer."

He said he read about this in a book concerned with group dynamics.

Two approaches to the same problem were demonstrated Tuesday evening by Edward Thomas, 35, of Palo Alto and George Trout, 46, of San Mateo.

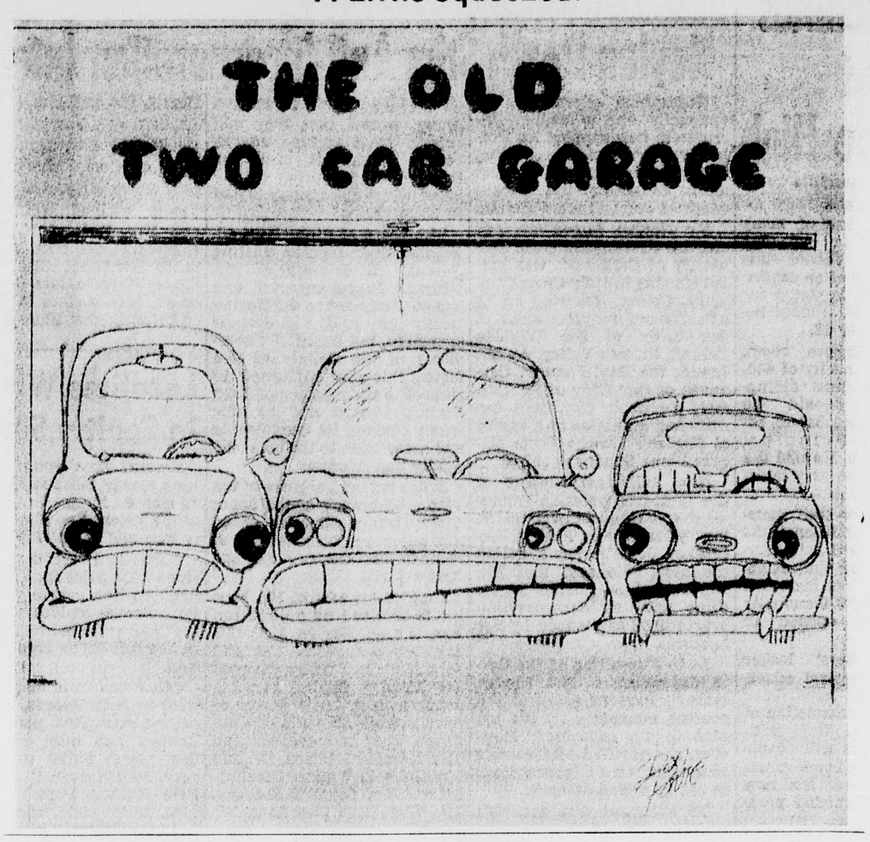

Both of the men were being escorted to the San Mateo County jail by Menlo Park Police Lt. Tony DeO'Campo on charges of being drunk and disorderly. Thomas suddenly broke away and bolted to a used car lot on the opposite side of the street.

DeO'Campo pursued and subdued Thomas with leverage and his night stick. On returning to the other side of the street, he found Trout was waiting patiently.

LINGUIST

"The English language," Walter the Weathermouse observed, as he strolled into the office with his report, "is truly inscrutable."

"We know," we rejoined sagely. "But what brings this topic to mind at the present moment?"

"I am trying to decipher an illegible note from a race-track tout, who writes with colored crayon," said the mouse. "What do you make of this?"

And he handed us a piece of paper on which was inscribed:

"You lead a horse to water but a pencil must be lead."

New 'Bier Haus' Carries On an Old Tradition

The new Cothpe Bier Haus opened at 1850 El Camino Real last Friday, signalling continuation of that location's role as a place for conviviality and refreshment which has continued for more than 30 years.

The establishment — name of which is made up of the first letters of the first names of the three sons of John Condos —first opened in the 1920's as the Menlo Barbecue.

It was operated by the late George Condos, founder of GC Liquors and by John Condos until 1950, when it became Greg's cocktail lounge, as it was maintined in operation until July.

The new establishment will be run by Constantine ("Connie") Condos who has been associated with his father John in the operation of GC Liquors.

The brothers whose names are also indicated in the business' name are Themios and Pete Condos.

The Bier Haus will sell tap beer and high quality imported bottled beers, as well as sandwiches and snacks, its new operator said. It will be open from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. daily and Sunday.

The new operator is a graduate of Sequoia High School and Menlo College, and a member of the Menlo Park Lions Club. He also has been active in area athletics and their promotion.

BICYCLE BUMP

Mary Veglia Milani began to pull into a parking space in the parking lot at 720 Menlo avenue Tuesday at 2:15 p.m. when her car was bumped by an oncoming bicycle. Bennie Whatley, 20, of 94 Alice lane pulled between two cars when he ran into one of them. He was treated for minor injuries at the Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital.

Municipal Report:

School District Figures Show Facts of Population Growth

The fact that Menlo Park "every day in every way is getting bigger and better" is pretty much taken for granted as a figure of speech, but the rate at which it has grown is pretty much a matter for each individual to imagine for himself.

Those who have lived in the community for more than 40 years have their own yardstick. They can remember the town as a hamlet with only a few scattered farmhouses in the area which is now included in the city limits.

People who have lived here for more than 10 years, however, qualify as "old timers," too, and they're in a distinct minoirty, too — if figures supplied recently by the Menlo Park Elementary School District are any indication.

Of course, the school district isn't coterminus with the city of Menlo Park, but it's fairly typical. It doesn't include the "high density" residential areas such as are typical in portions of the Ravenswood School District, and it also has open areas which produce few children per acre, such as the bosky dells of Atherton.

But assuming that, on the whole, it's typical of Menlo Park, the school district's figures can show where the bulges of community growth have been.

In 1945-46, for instance, the school district had an average daily attendance of 492 pupils, housed in the old Central school and in the older portions of Fremont school.

Last year's average daily attendance, by contrast, was 2310 — a school population gain of about four and a half times in 14 years!

Assessed valuations, meanwhile, have grown, too.

A decade ago, for instance, the assessed valuation of the district was figured at $13,066,-164; this year, the estimated assessed valuation stands at $46,778,130.

For those who want to go into it further, it might be pointed out that the number of children enrolled in the schools doubled (from 1204 average daily attendance in 1950-51 to 2357 last year), while the tax support behind each more than tripled.

Of course, some of the gain was by fiat: The state ordered the assessment rolls revised upward in 1952, and the county reassessed here only last year, so the gain in more support per pupil isn't three times as much as it was 10 years ago.

Also, inflation has to be figured in, in measuring the support per pupil and how the picture's changed.

When did the big "population jump of the '50's" actually hit?

It's hard to tell, from the figures, because a small number of additional pupils resulted in enormous percentile jumps, when the school population was small.

Numerically, though, the "big year" was 1951. The average daily attendance in 1950-51 was 1204 and the next school year, the average stood at 1533 for a gain of 329 pupils — average. Naturally, they didn't all enter school in the fall; they kept filtering in throughout the year.

Next month, it's anticipated, the enrollment at the opening of school will be about that of last year—2376 signed up, for an average daily attendance of 2310.

Last year, however, showed a smaller enrollment than the previous one, by some 47 pupils.

Will the smaller enrollments be reflected in lower costs and lower taxes?

Probably not.

Inflation goes on, salaries go up, and the costs of supplies and materials rises also.

Residents Attend Kickoff Meeting For Fund Drive

Graham Adams, H. A. Latch and St. George Lafitte of Menlo Park and Robert Atkinson of Woodside were present at the organization meeting of the San Mateo County Society for Crippled Children and Adults on Aug. 19.

The meeting marked the beginning of "The Big Break-Through," a major capital fund raising campaign for $250,000 to greatly enlarge and more fully equip the Rehabilitation and Research Center connected with the Society.

Harry J. Boyle, chairman, outlined the needs which can be filled with the minimum amount requested over and above the present operating funds. The expansion plans in physical therapy call for a therapy pool with a patient lift, additional hydrotherapy units, a gymnasium with training ramps, and graduated stairs, parallel bars and more adequate treating rooms.

Also included in the proposed fund are an addition of 5400 square feet to the present 8000 square feet of working space. The original building was constructed in 1957 from donated funds.

Children's Bootery Cited as Top Retail Outlet

The Children's Bootery at 898 Santa Cruz avenue, this week received a citation naming it one of the top 20 retail outlets of its kind in the nation, by the Brand Names Foundation.

Operator Charles Smith received a citation which cited the store for honorable mention on the basis of "consistent promotion and distribution of manufacturer-trademarked products" and for "interpreting to the public the consumer benefits of the brand competitive system."

AGAINST LIGHT

Annis Faye Nolan of 1158 Madera avenue was struck Tuesday at 6:15 p.m. by a car driven by Louis Brown Jr., 19, of 139 Newbridge avenue, when she darted across the street against the red light at the Newbridge - Willow intersection. Annis told police that she though she could make it before the vehicle reached that spot. Brown was unable to stop in time. Annis was treated for minor injuries at the Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital.

County Comment:

County Supervisors May Dump Plans of Rapid Transit Board

By FLOYD F. McCUE
Editor and Publisher, Redwood City Star-Advertiser

Although the Bay Area Rapid Transit won't have its billion-dollar bond issue on the November ballot, recent news items and actions by the counties indicate that such a vote is a long, long way off—and possibly may never come about. Even San Francisco, which stands to benefit more than any other area, is bitterly opposing many phases of the program. They won't want less, naturally, but want even more and they don't like the routes as proposed by the BARTD engineers.

The San Mateo county board of supervisors is showing more and more opposition to the program and many changes will have to be made before the district can get approval here. In 1959-60 transit collected .039 cents tax rate in San Mateo county for a total of about $275,000. This was for engineering and planning only. No rate has been set by the BARTD board as yet because the total county assessment rolls have only recently been released.

One thing appears certain, we learn from our own board of supervisors. Unless the plans come up to specifications for this county local voters will not be asked to decide the issue. There is too much at stake, the supervisors say.

This could only mean that San Mateo county would pull out before an election is set. If the county did stay in and the rest of the transit district approved the bond issue, we would be stuck. This is a point we have stressed many times and, thank goodness, the supervisors agree.

The particular point that is drawing board opposition at the present time is the plan to culminate the Peninsula line at Redwood City, leaving out the populous Palo Alto and San Jose areas. It is understandable that the BARTD directors could not proceed into Santa Clara county until the board of supervisors of that county voted to join the district and this does not seem to be even close at this time.

VALUES 'OUT OF BLUE'

BARTD releases have set the valuations for the proposed rights of way and, from all we can understand, the figures were snatched out of the skies without even conferring with the land owners. We're told that the district has never talked price with Southern Pacific, which would have to relinquish parts of its Peninsula right-of-way for the not-so-speedy transit system.

When we think of the tax load that San Mateo county taxpayers would have to pay for a system that would cut down the running time from Redwood City to San Francisco by five minutes it becomes ridiculous.

With the next year's tax take, this county will have sent approximately $500,000 in tax dollars to BARTD merely for the study and engineering. In addition to the property tax take, the district would be permitted under the legislation of the district to assess a sales tax up to 3 per cent.

KEEPING WATCH

Keeping a close tab on transit district proceedings are Supervisor T. Louis Chess, the former Southern Pacific passenger head and the two county representatives named by the board of supervisors. They are stressing vigorously the fact that no approval will come from this county until the line is extended south into Santa Clara county.

They will have ample time to make reports so the board of supervisors can call it quits as far as this county is concerned, which could throw the entire program out the window.

The action may not be that drastic but we're glad to report that the county representatives are doing a good job and will protect the county residents right up to the bitter end.

GOOD TAX RECORD

San Mateo county may once again come up with an enviable record for a tax base when 1960-61 rates are announced for the state. The six-cent reduction voted by the board of supervisors may not set a record for this or any other county, but most all other counties are increasing rates, while still having to boost assessments to meet the state standards.

The county's budget of $30,-206,963.25 is up considerably, thanks to health and welfare agencies that get much of their funds from the state and federal governments. Included in this category, too, is the county road program.

Actually the local budget is up about a million dollars which most observers feel is a splendid record in face of rising costs of everything that goes into operating the many services.

Increased assessments will allow the county to spend more but there would have been howls no matter what the supervisors might have done. This time we hope the taxpayers will give at least a little smile instead of a "hell-with-'em" scowl just this once. For every cent of the rate the treasury will benefit to the tune of $73,941.83 cents, so the six-cent reduction means about $453,546 will not be collected had the old rate been maintained.

We have to mention it again although it's an old story with us. The tax cut comes in a county without a sales tax. Had this estimated $750,000 been added to the county revenue, the tax rate could have been reduced another 10 cents, providing it all went to reduce property taxes.

Portola Sewer Plan Draws Few Protests

Only a few letters of protest were reported this week on the proposed installation of 17,000 feet of sewer line in Brookside Orchard and Park, one of the Portola Valley's older subdivisions. Opponents will be able to air their views on the planned sewer assessment district at a public hearing at 2 p.m., September 6, before the County Board of Supervisors.

Cost of the improvement to Brookside's smaller building site owners would range between $750 and $1000, with larger holdings paying proportionately more, according to a county engineering department spokesman. Total estimated cost of the work is $191,605.

If approval comes at the hearing, the project's engineer, Dennis Meredith of Charles S. McCandless Co., said he hopes to begin work this October 1 and finish up early next year. On completion, Brookside would be annexed to the Menlo Park Sanitary District.

Of the total footage, Meredith said 3000 would be 8 inch pipe and 14,000 would be 6 inch pipe.

Brookside, which is bounded by Alpine and Portola roads, has a total of 149 assessments. The sewer system cost is payable with property owners' tax bills, by cash or by bond spread over a 15 year period.

Bakery Here Under New Management

The Menlo Square Cake Box, bakery at 1012 Alma street, this week is operating under new management.

New owners of the establishment are Fred and Karl Koelbel, who have purchased the business from Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Greider, 400 Ravenswood avenue. The Greiders started the business in 1951.

The Koelbel brothers, both German born, learned the baking trade under the guidance of their father, who still operates his own bakery in Germany. They have been in the U.S. about five years, recently worked in Stockton.

German pastries, made by recipes brought from "the old country" will be featured by the new management. The shop will continue to be closed on Mondays, open 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays.

Both brothers now reside in Mountain View. Fred is married, the father of two children. Karl and his wife have one child.

Mr. and Mrs. Greider said this week that they have no immediate plans. "We'll probably take a little trip," said Mrs. Greider, "but right now we're mostly just resting.

"But we do plan to stay right here in the area, because we like it here better than any other place we've ever seen," she concluded.

FAIR OAKS 'FIRE'

A child who tried to start a rubbish fire outside by lighting a roll of paper inside her home brought Menlo Park Fire District firemen to the scene Monday at Fifth and Eighth avenues, North Fair Oaks. The girl had dropped the burning paper and then put it out herself. The smoke investigation call came at 2:37 p.m.

The lowest net interest cost shall be computed on a 360-day year basis. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the district.
RIGHT OF REJECTION: Said Board of Supervisors reserves the right in its discretion to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

FORM OF BID: All bids must be for not less than all the bonds hereby offered for sale, and for not less than the par value thereof and accrued interest to date of delivery. Such bids, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Board of Supervisors of said County, and endorsed "Proposal for School Bonds of LAS LOMITAS School District, of San Mateo County."
BID CHECK: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $2500.00, drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the County Treasurer, to secure said District from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. In addition bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the District on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the District. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the County Clerk by mail, upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon deposit made by the successful bidder.
There is no controversy or litigation pending or threatened concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of said District, or the title of the officers to their respective offices.

Ted Tollner's Last Start Was a Good One . . .

. . . for the Menlo Park Recs Sunday as he won 12-7 over the Burlingame Red Sox in the first game of a doubleheader at Flood Park. Getting stronger as he went, Tollner put down the last 10 Burlingame batters down in order. Here, he gets the first of the 10 in the sixth inning, getting Red Sox second sacker Art Jones (1) to hit a grounder to third. He was subsequently thrown out to end the inning. Catching is Lyman Ashley. Plate umpire is Bill Stollenwork.

Recs Still In Bayshore League Contention: Final Action; Stars, Brisbane on Tap

With a chance to make a last minute vault into a tie for the championship, the Menlo Park Recs close their Bayshore League semi-pro baseball season with two games this weekend.

On Saturday, the Recs take on the cross-town Menlo Stars at 2 p.m. at Flood Park.

Sunday they travel to Orange Street Park in South San Francisco to play Brisbane AC, also at 2 p.m.

In another game Sunday, league-leading Utah Construction of South San Francisco and the Burlingame Red Sox —whom the Recs knocked out of the lead Sunday—clash at Burlingame.

The Recs can tie for the title IF Burlingame beats Utah and then loses at least one of a pair of makeup games with Brisbane, to be played over the Labor Day weekend.

It seems almost too much to hope for.

Had the Recs beaten Utah Construction July 31 (the game in which they had a 7-2 lead with one out in the ninth inning but lost 8-7), they would now lead by half a game.

Lefty Rudy Steinbruck will pitch against the Stars Saturday. Bill Brodie, also a southpaw, will be in relief. On Sunday righthander Dick Sanchez will go against Brisbane.

With three wins, a loss and a tie last week, the Recs' overall record is now 14-6-1; their league mark is 5-3.

BIG BURST

The Recs trailed 7-4 in the fifth inning Sunday, but rallied for six runs and went on to beat Burlingame 12-7. Bob Wendell's bases loaded triple off the right field fence drove home the tie-breaking runs.

Lyman Ashley started the uprising with a triple and three straight walks by Burlingame reliefer Lee Moench forced across two runs.

Wendell drove in four runs and Spinner Johnston three in the game.

Ted Tollner went the distance for the Recs. He was hit hard in the first five innings, but got out of a bases loaded jam in the sixth and then went on to retire the final 10 Burlingame batters in order.

Following the league contest, the teams played a seven-inning non-league game. Here, too, the Recs came from behind with a six-run inning, this time the fourth, and scored a 9-4 run.

Lindy Guerra's 2-run double featured the rally. Sanchez struck out 11 batters in five innings and got the win. Steinbruck pitched the last two frames, whiffing four with his newly developed knuckle ball.

SAD AT SOLEDAD

The Recs did not fare as well in their Saturday trip to Soledad prison. The home team scored an unearned run in the final inning to tie the Recs 1-1 in the first game, ended by a time limit, and then beat the Menlo Park squad 7-3 in the second contest.

Both games were terminated before nine innings because of a time limit.

Soledad ,which showed the Recs some of the best pitching they have seen during the season, has a 27-5-3 record.

Bob Wolger, former Sequoia lefthander, pitched the first game for the Recs, striking out 11. Bob Bitticks, Woodside High's All-SPALer, couldn't get anyone out in the first inning of the second game and was the loser. Jack Foley finished it.

Gary Davis doubled and scored the Recs' lone run in the first game.

Several Menlo regulars were unable to make the trip.

Thursday night the San Carlos Cardinals forfeited their game to the Recs, borrowed a pitcher from them and won a "scrimmage" 6-3. Lyman Ashley was the winning pitcher against his own teammates. Bitticks was the loser.

Sanchez pitched three innings of relief and struck out nine. Rollins hit a two-run triple for Menlo.

The Inning Almost Ended . . .

. . . but didn't quite on this attempted force with two out in the sixth in the Menlo Recs-Burlingame Red Sox battle Sunday at Flood Park. Recs second baseman Steve Chell (right) took Bill Day's grounder but threw wildly to shortstop Bob Wendell covering the bag. Dave Lange slid in safely as the ball (arrow) narrowly eluded Wendell. Base umpire Bob Cole was all ready to call the out too. The Recs won, 12-7.

STAGS WIN TITLE

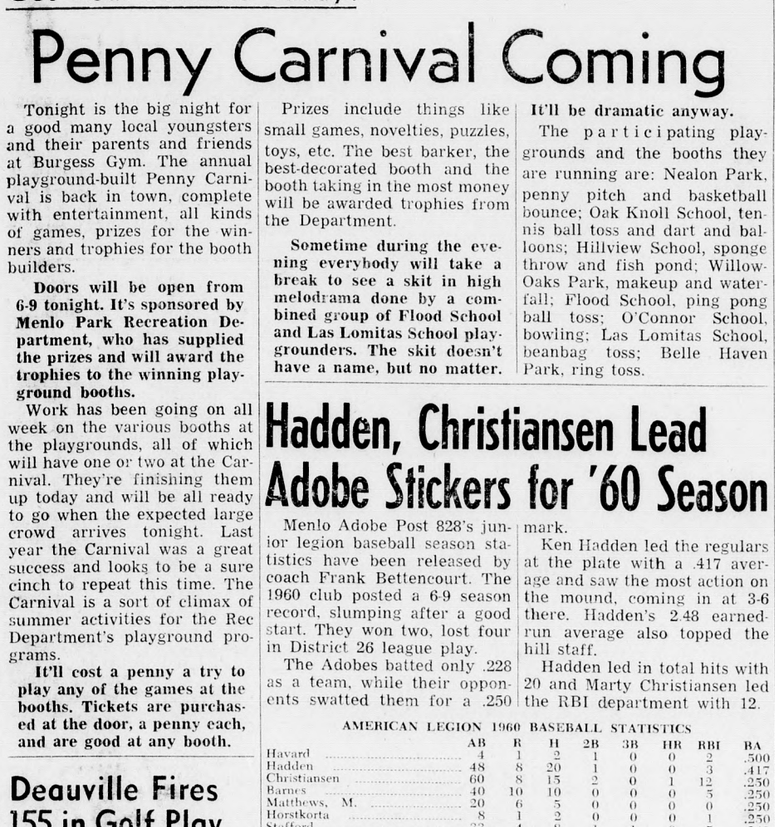

The Stags whipped SRI 9-3 to win the Menlo Park Recreation Department industrial softball league championship at Nealon Park Tuesday. Watkins and Johnson won the other scheduled game by forfeit from U.S. Geological Survey.

An Elusive Ball . . .

. . . sent Menlo Recs second baseman Steve Chell caroming into the dirt and a Burlingame runner to third base at Flood Park Sunday. Burlingame's Lee Moench drilled a fifth-inning single through the hole into right field that Chell dived for but couldn't get. Bill Day (behind Chell) made it to third. Covering at second is Recs shortstop Bob Wendell. Moench's hit helped Burlingame to a 7-4 lead in the Bayshore League contest, which the Recs wiped out with a six-run rally and went on to win 12-7.

—Recorder photo

Determined . . .

. . . to get his man, Menlo Recs third sacker Spinner Johnston zeroed in for a long throw to first to get Burlingame batter Bruce Cunningham (foreground), who was legging out a slow roller. Johnston nailed him at first for the final out of the seventh frame. The Recs took the Bayshore League tilt 12-7 and came back to win a 9-4 non-league decision in the nightcap.

Has She Met Any Handsome Russians?—Dunno, Ann's Probably Too Busy Now

It's work, work, work for the Olympic Games athletes from all over the world congregated in Rome this week, including our Menlo Park representative, 15-year-old Ann Warner. Ann, the U.S. women's 200-meter breaststroke champion, arrived in Rome a week ago Sunday with the strong U.S. women's swim team, checked in at the Olympic Village and has been sightseeing and working out.

★ ★ ★ ★

But she probably won't do most of her touring until after the business part of her trip is over. Ann, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Warner of 207 Santa Margarita avenue, already has been on the road for two months.

She's been living with Olympic teammates Chris Von Saltza and Lynn Burke at Miss Von Saltaza's home in Saratoga since February, swimming every day under the tutelage of Santa Clara Swim Club coach George Haines, now the U.S. Olympic swim mentor.

Ann "won her wings" in Olympic trials at Indianapolis and Detroit this summer, spent a week rehearsing in New York, and took off straight for Rome.

For the first time in the history of the Olympics, the swim competition will be run first, so Ann reports, she'll have a week to spend playing the role of American tourist while the Games are completed. Then she comes back to Menlo Park, where she's going into her junior year at Menlo-Atherton High School.

★ ★ ★ ★

Where did all this start? Well, it seems that her first competition was in the annual Menlo Park Kiwanis swim meet at Burgess Pool when she was eight years old. She's been at it ever since, collecting well over 100 AAU medals in the process.

★ ★ ★ ★

San Mateo County Board of Supervisors have taken an interest too, on behalf of the three County athletes in the Games, and have designated today as Olympic Games Day. Their resolution reads:

RESOLVED, by the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, that

WHEREAS, participation in the Olympic Games promotes better undersetnding between nations and contributes to the overall fitness of our citizens by reason of the year around activities in the schools, colleges, parks and playgrounds conducted in preparation and participation in events leading to the Olympic Games held every four years; and

WHEREAS, three citizens of San Mateo County are participating in the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome, Italy: Miss Pat Daniels of Millbrae and Capuchino High School, participating in the 800 meter run; Miss Anne Warner of Menlo Park on the Swimming Team; and Mr. Conn Findlay of Belmont, defending champion of the Pair'Oared with coxswain boat race:

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY FOUND, DETERMINED AND ORDERED that THURSDAY, AUGUST 25, 1960, is designated as OLYMPIC GAMES DAY in the County of San Mateo, and all citizens of the County are urged to participate in the sportsmanship spirit of the games, to support Miss Daniels, Miss Warner and Mrs. Findlay, our participating athletes, and the United States Olympic Team, and to encourage competition in sports to the betterment of all the competitors.

Signed by the Board of Supervisors, August 23, 1960.
Glen E. Smith, Supervisor,
Parks and Recreation Department
San Mateo County, California

It Happened to Them, Too . . .

The Menlo-Atherton American Little Leaguers, who dropped that 4-1 game to the Sunnyvale Americans in the Little League Sectionals recently can take solace in the fact that Sunnyvale was eliminated at Roseville the next week by Visalia. Visalia then went on to capture the consolation title at the Western Regionals in Phoenix this past weekend, whipping Vancouver, B.C. 3-2. East Lakewood, Calif., took the Regional Championship, beating South Boulder, Colo., 10-4. The Little League World Series opens at Williamsport, Pa., this week. Just to show how tough it's going to be, one of the eight teams will be Monterrey, Mexico, representing Latin America. Monterrrey has won two World Series titles in recent years and are looking for a third.

Heard This One? . . .

The latest knee-slapper that floated into the office last week is about major league Hall of Famer Ty Cobb and a Texas friend who picked him at his Atherton home one day.

Coming up the driveway on their return, the friend accidentally ron over Cobb's Dachshund. Said the friend to Cobb: "Ty, I owe you a long little doggie."

Get Your Pennies Ready:

Penny Carnival Coming

Tonight is the big night for a good many local youngsters and their parents and friends at Burgess Gym. The annual playground-built Penny Carnival is back in town, complete with entertainment, all kinds of games, prizes for the winners and trophies for the booth builders.

Doors will be open from 6-9 tonight. It's sponsored by Menlo Park Recreation Department, who has supplied the prizes and will award the trophies to the winning playground booths.

Work has been going on all week on the various booths at the playgrounds, all of which will have one or two at the Carnival. They're finishing them up today and will be all ready to go when the expected large crowd arrives tonight. Last year the Carnival was a great success and looks to be a sure cinch to repeat this time. The Carnival is a sort of climax of summer activities for the Rec Department's playground programs.

It'll cost a penny a try to play any of the games at the booths. Tickets are purchased at the door, a penny each, and are good at any booth.

Prizes include things like small games, novelties, puzzles, toys, etc. The best barker, the best-decorated booth and the booth taking in the most money will be awarded trophies from the Department.

Sometime during the evening everybody will take a break to see a skit in high melodrama done by a combined group of Flood School and Las Lomitas School playgrounders. The skit doesn't have a name, but no matter. It'll be dramatic anyway.

The participating playgrounds and the booths they are running are: Nealon Park, penny pitch and basketball bounce; Oak Knoll School, tennis ball toss and dart and balloons; Hillview School, sponge throw and fish pond; Willow-Oaks Park, makeup and waterfall; Flood School, ping pong ball toss; O'Connor School, bowling; Las Lomitas School, beanbag toss; Belle Haven Park, ring toss.

Hadden, Christiansen Lead Adobe Stickers for '60 Season

Menlo Adobe Post 828's junior legion baseball season statistics have been released by coach Frank Bettencourt. The 1960 club posted a 6-9 season record, slumping after a good start. They won two, lost four in District 26 league play.

The Adobes batted only .228 as a team, while their opponents swatted them for a .250 mark.

Ken Hadden led the regulars at the plate with a .417 average and saw the most action on the mound, coming in at 3-6 there. Hadden's 2.48 earned-run average also topped the hill staff.

Hadden led in total hits with 20 and Marty Christiansen led the RBI department with 12.

Menlo Park Recreation Department is putting on a special teen dance for all teenagers in the area next Friday evening, Sept. 2, at Burgess Gym from 8-11 p.m.

Theme of the dance will be "Continental Capers." Music will be provided by Johnny Vaughan's orchestra, through the cooperation of Local 6 of the American Federation of Musicians, AFL-CIO, through a grant from the Recording Industries Trust Fund.

The teenage committee has been working hard to make the dance a success, according to the Rec Department, and wish to invite all local teens to the big back-to-school affair.

Dress will be dressy sport, with no levis, jeans, pedal pushers or Bermudas allowed. The dance will be free and punch will be served.

Comedia's Damn Yankees Is a Real Pennant-Winner

Despite the fact that it's slightly out of keeping with the times, the Comedia Repertory Company players are probably a damn sight better singers than the Washington Senator baseball players and are taking full advantage of their talent in Comedia's current production of the Broadway hit, "Damn Yankees."

The goofy play by George Abbott and Douglass Wallop is about a bad- bad-minded Svengali-type apparition from ancient times who resurrects the sagging Washington Senators into a pennant winner, beating the Yankees out of it.

When we saw it, willowy, light-voiced Jann Miller had taken over the role of Lola for the evening from Mary Alyce. Lola, the gal Gwen Verdon played on Broadway, was Applegate's (Phillip Schultz) sidekick, "only 175 years old."

Schultz, doing his usual convincing job, made this Applegate oddity one of the play's big bright spots. He turned rabid Senator fan Don Pederson into his younger self at age 22, at which point Steve Hudner took over.

Hudner was the perfect hayseed rookie from Hannibal, Mo., with baseball in general and a pennant for the Senators in particular uppermost in his mind. Schultz then brought out Lola, the object being to entice Hudner into doing something foolish and costing the senators the flag.

All this was done through a furious pace of songs by everyone, from solos to choruses by the whole Senator ball club. "You've Got to Have Heart" and "Whatever Lola Wants' are the ones you've heard the most of, but only because Lola's "A Little Brains —A Little Talent" and the team song "The Game" would bring down the wrath of the FCC. But the audience loved them.

Stage settings were honest and simple—they had to be, with 11 scenes in each act. They also left lots of room, also a good idea with most of the 29 actors often putting in an appearance all at once. About the only thing they didn't get into at one time or another was a real ball game.

The choreography and singing were strictly tops, done with a gusto that could be matched only at a World Series opening in Washington. Maybe the players have been reading about the real-life Senators, who this year own a 10-won, 6-lost record against the hated Yankees. They certainly sounded like it.

You'll have through September to see "Damn Yankees" down at the Loft. Judging from the size of the crowds, it might be a good idea to make reservations early.

Opera Co. Still On Prop Hunt, Lists Needs

The Peninsula Artists and Opera Company's appeal for clothes, hats, gowns and items needed for costumes and stage props has received a generous response and the Company is grateful, general director Eugene Lawrence said this week.

"From embroidered curtains formerly hung in Senator Stanford's home to a sword which came all the way from Massachusetts or a knife from India or a set of champagne cups—many, many items which we received show that people have taken quite an interest in our artistic activities and programs," Lawrence said.

But Marjorie Allen, costume director, pointed out that her department still needs ball gowns, formal morning clothes, tails and tuxedos, white vests, top hats, canes, white gloves, spats, toreador hats and various other formal clothing.

The Company now has a special Property Department, headed by Sigfried Van Hooydonk, a new member of the production staff recently arrived from Holland. He is a designer of sets and worked as property director in shows which were presented in several countries in the Far East.

Hooydonk stressed that the Company still needs a lot of things such as cardboard clothes closets, dishes, silverware, glasses, any kind of lumber, plywood, muslin, canvas, ropes, cables, wire, old instruments like French horns, trumpets, violins, drums and others. The Company would be particularly grateful to receive a large, old-fashioned chandelier which could be used for "La Traviata" performances.

"The Company expresses the hope that this appeal will receive the same generous response as the former one," Lawrence said. He added that items may be sent to the Company office at 851 Lytton street in Palo Alto or arrangements can be made to pick them up by calling DA 4-1924.

"Teen Night," an informal get-together for local teenagers, will be held Saturday night at Burgess Gym, sponsored by Menlo Park Recreation Department.

Everyone from 13 to 19 years old is invited to the affair, which will run from 6:30-10:30 p.m. Admission is 25 cents. Dress will be Bermudas or khakis. Some of the activities will be volleyball, swimming, tennis, basketball, ping pong and

Presents Free Concert Tuesday

Something new has been added to Menlo Park Recreation Department's fall program. On Aug. 30 the Peninsula Youth Concert Band, under the direction of Dana Morgan, will present a concert in Burgess Little Theater.

Members of the concert band are students from Menlo-Atherton, Woodside, Sequoia, Palo Alto, and Cubberley high schools. All are solo chair players in their school groups and some of the 27 are or have been members of the wind section of the California Youth Symphony.

This group is unique in that it is free to the teens. Morgan is a retired Navy band conductor and has taken up this symphony as a sort of hobby. He also is a member of the San Francisco Golden Gate Park Band.

Jeff Duvall, a Woodside High School senior, is the solo clarinetist and first chair clarinet of the California Youth Symphony Orchestra. He also acts as personnel manager of the local concert band.

The program will consist of: Old Berlin March by Von Blon, Norma Overture by Bellini, The California of Baghdad by Bcieldieu, The Two Little Bullfinches by Kling (featuring Duvall and Bob Marsh), The Luspiel Overture by Helen Bela, Under the Double Eagle March by Wagner, Poet and Peasant Overture by Suppe, The Italian in Algiers by Rossini, Ballet Parisian by Offenbach and Barnum and Bailey's Favorite March by Kling.

The group has been working on the program for some time and promises an evening of light entertainment for those interested in band concerts. Admission is free and the public is invited.

PEGGY PURYEAR, Portola Valley, won one first award and one second in the ABC's of Clothing category of the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta's awards for textiles.

Tie Recorded in First Belle Haven Football Action

A small but plucky Willow-Oaks Park touch football squad fought off Belle Haven Park for a 12-12 tie in opening action of playground football for high school boys last week at Belle Haven.

Both teams were bothered by a strong wind that ruined several touchdown passes. The first scoring was George Raybon's 15-yard pass interception for the Belle Havenites.

Willow-Oaks came back on a three-yard pass from Phil Balsama to George Davis to tie it up. A 15-yard pass play to Dave Wagner was Belle Haven's other TD.

12-Foot Sunflowers . . .

. . . aren't very common, even in Kansas, but there's one meeting those specifications adorning the garden of the Rheba Lovejoy home at 45 Victoria drive in Atherton. The platter-sized flower bloomed last week and can be seen from almost all over the neighborhood. Its size is better appreciated by the fact that a six-footer can't see over the fence. —Recorder photo

If Your Vacation's Over, Your Garden Needs Work

It's been said by some cynics that the reason we are always shocked by the way our gardens look at vacation's end is because that's the way we left them. And if we are really honest about it, the cynics may be right. We can blame the neighbor boy for a dried up lawn, but we can't blame him for bloomed out beds of annuals, seedy looking roses and weeds that seem to have put on more growth than a brief absence might excuse.

Wherever we do place the blame, there is but one thing to do—admit that the vacation is over and get to work. Shedding tears, however many of them, won't water the lawns nor restore ragged borders to beauty.

First off, mow the lawn. This simple action erases one of the most glaring examples of neglect. A trim lawn enhances the garden appearance even if it is on the dry side. And don't forget the edges—this makes any lawn look truly trimmed.

Next, give the lawn a good, long soaking with a fine mist sprinkler which doesn't dispense water faster than the lawn can drink it up. Follow this two or three days later with a good feeding and another slow soak job. The improvement will follow in short order.

We'll assume that your first action toward shrub borders was to turn the hose on them. Pick off faded blooms now and weed when the ground is moistened enough to make the job easy. Give late summer feedings to camellias, azaleas, fuchsias, rhododendrons, roses, chrysanthemums and dahlias. Feed potted plants — begonias, geraniums, etc. — to keep them going.

Finally, turn your attention to plant beds. Take out faded annuals and replace them. You will find many budding plants at the local nursery ready to start blooming in no time. And if you really want to give your garden a boost of color, buy a few pots of blooming chrysanthemums, begonias or fuchsias. There's nothing to chase the post-vacation blues like a riot of ready-made color.

GARDENER'S CHECKLIST

1. Plants in containers, especially hanging baskets, need extra attention from the hose. Daily watering is in line for most of them. A little fertilizer, too!

2. Keep chrysanthemums staked and remember to pinch off the side buds if you would have the biggest blooms on top where they belong.

3. Hibiscus in full bloom can be transferred from the nursery container to a tub on your sunny deck or patio.

4. Crabgrass controls can be applied again this month to catch evasive members of the family that lived through your first application.

5. It's not too early to set out annuals for winter bloom. You'll find flats of snapdragons, stock, calendulas, violas and pansies among others at local nurseries this month.

Art Club Plans Festival For Next Month

Plans for the Palo Art Club Fall Festival by club members are under way. This year the show will be held at the club, 855 Cowper street, Palo Alto, from 10 a.m.-7:30 p.m. on Sept. 9, 10 and 11. The festival will be open to the public.

Entries will include paintings, sculpture and mosaics by Palo Alto Art Club members; also, a special exhibit from Roma Bauer's and Tanya Lohman's children's classes. Works of art will be judged and awards presented.

Patricia Anne Davis:

Becomes Bride In Lovely Ceremony

Wedding guests at the Saturday ceremony in which Patricia Anne Davis became the bride of Ruben Peterson at the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in Menlo Park agreed it was one of the season's loveliest.

Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Davis of Atherton. Ruben's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Peterson of Klamath Falls, Ore.

Gowned in chantilly lace and peau de soie, Patricia, escorted down the aisle by her father, was a classically beautiful bride. Her full-length bridal gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves tapered at the wrist and a chapel train. A crown of tiny white flowers held her tulle veil. The bridal bouquet was composed of white gardenias and white stephanotis.

MR. AND MRS. RUBEN PETERSON
—Menlo Camera Shop

WEDDING PARTY

Linda Davis, Patricia's sister, was her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Diane Davis ,also the bride's sister; Carol Smith, an Alpha Chi Omega sorority sister, and Nancy Rich, a cousin from Kansas City, Mo.

Identically gowned, the attendants wore afternoon length dresses of blue organza over taffeta made with full skirts. Matching veils and bouquets made up of white gardenias and lavender violas completed their ensembles.

The Reverend John Wyatt performed the ceremony for which the church had been decorated with large bouquets of white stephanotis, lily of the valley, gardenias, stock, and gladiolus.

As best man, Ruben chose Larry Slessler, a fraternity brother from Medford, Ore. Fulfilling their duties as ushers were Eric Peterson, Ruben's brother; Del Moller, his brother-in-law and Jim Knight, another fraternity brother.

A conversation piece floral display was an enormous bouquet of delphinium, white stock and gladiolus which was suspended from an oak tree in the garden.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Davis chose a costume of beige raw silk with which she wore cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Peterson's choice was a pale turquoise sheath of nylon chiffon over taffeta. She, too, wore an orchid corsage.

After cutting a tiered wedding cake and accepting the congratulatory toasts of their 200 guests, Patricia and Ruben left the reception for Carmel and other points down the Coast. The new Mrs. Peterson chose an Italian knit suit in moonstone jade for her going-away outfit.

The newlyweds will live in Klamath Falls, where the new benedict will teach in a local high school.

Among special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Todd Rich Jr. and their daughters, Nancy and Emily, from Kansas City. The Kansas City couple are Patricia's uncle and aunt.

SCHOOLS

Patricia is a graduate of Menlo-Atherton High School and more recently has been a student at the University of Oregon. Ruben attended Klamath Falls Union High School and the University of Oregon where he was an affiliate of Delta Upsilon.

Kennedy Fashion Show:

Honor Guest Is Pat Lawford

Mrs. Peter Lawford, sister of Senator John F. Kennedy, will be the guest of honor at a fashion tea Saturday, Sept. 17, at 2 p.m. in the gardens of the Clarence Heller home in Atherton.

"New Frontiers in Fashions" is the theme chosen for the social event, according to Mrs. Thomas Burt of Los Altos and Mrs. Burt C. Kendall of Menlo Park, co-chairmen of the affair.

The fashion collection is the first showing of the latest creations by Leda, a European designer who has moved to the Peninsula. The collection will be classified as top secret until the day of the showing. The new styles in leather attire from Prestige, Inc., will be shown with the Leda designs.

VINEYARD THEME

The show promises to be one of the most unusual on the Peninsula this season. Due to the vastness of the area, two different show sites will be used. Guests will have the choice of sitting in the garden or at poolside. Each area will have a seperate commentator and amplifying system. However, the same models and fashions will be viewed in both areas. This will necessitate using more models than is usually customary for a showing.

Others working on the arrangements will be Mrs. Guye E. Troute, fashion coordinator; Mrs. Vincent Klevesahl, model chairman, and Mrs. Harold W. Starr, production chairman.

KENNEDY BOOSTERS

The fashion tea is being sponsored by the Mid-Peninsulans for Kennedy, a volunteer group made up of members of both political parties.

Reservations for the fashion tea are available at $5 per person. Information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Elliott Katzen at DA 1-2380.

Saturday evening, following the fashion tea, Mrs. Lawford will attend a cocktail party in her honor at the Atherton home of the Paul Cooks. Mrs. Geraldine Hardin of Menlo Park will handle arrangements for the "invitation only" party sponsored by the Kennedy boosters.

Children's Health Council Presents:

First Local Pops Outdoor Concert In Two Decades Set For Sunday

Arthur Fiedler in a Reflective Pre-Concert Mood.

World-Famous Artists To Perform Here For Benefit

At Sunday's Summer Symphony I, Bay Area music lovers will enjoy the following selections presented in a traditional pops style outdoor concert in Stanford University's Frost Amphitheatre.

Suite from "The Water Musik" ..... Handel-Harty
Allegro Moderato, from "The Unfinished Symphony" ..... Schubert
Eri tu—from "The Masked Ball" ..... Verdi
Aprite un po'quegl'occhi—from "The Marriage of Figaro" ..... Mozart
Soloist: Theodor Uppman
Hoe Down from "Rodeo" ..... Copland
Final Dance from "Estancia" (Malambo) Ginastera
INTERMISSION
Concerto No. 1, in B-flat minor, for Piano and Orchestra ..... Tchaikovsky
Soloist: Jorge Bolet
Prelude to "Die Meistersinger" ..... Wagner

The fact that Peninsula is an ethnic and cultural unit ready and able to stand on its own feet has never been more clearly symbolized than by next Sunday's (Aug. 28) Summer Symphony I, sponsored by the Children's Health Council of the Mid-Peninsula.

Not for two decades and more has the San Francisco Symphony given an outdoor concert in the traditional pops style. Thanks to a five-year-old dream envisioned by CHC members (to whose organization the proceeds will go), on Sunday, Arthur Fiedler, the dynamic conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will conduct an outdoor pops symphony concert in Palo Alto.

The setting will be the tree-studded terraced lawns of the Laurence Frost Amphitheater on the Stanford University campus.

Guest soloists are Metropolitan Opera star Theodor Uppman and the Cuban piano virtuoso Jorge Bolet. Uppman is a native Palo Altan while Bolet now makes his home in Los Gatos.

The degree of enthusiasm for this benefit concert, the largest event of its kind ever presented by a local group, can be measured by the fact that over $10,000 in patron tickets have been sold.

The Children's Health Council Summer Symphony fulfills a dream envisioned by its board and members over five years ago. The dream will become a reality on Sunday when the three world-famous artists donate their talents to the outdoor concert which will benefit children with physical, mental and emotional handicaps.

Because of the artist's generosity and the substantial contributions from Ampex Corp., Hewlett-Packard Co. and Varian Associates, it is assured that every dollar will go directly to CHC for the treatment of children.

A specifically designe sound system will be installe by Ampex Corporation fo Summer Symphony I, an even which its hard-working spon sors plan to make an annua one.

Tickets cost $3. They may b secured through the Children' Health Council, 700 Willov road, Palo Alto; at Bay Are boxoffice outlets and at Fros Amphitheater on the afternoo of the concert. The perfor mance starts at 4:30 p.m. Fo the occasion, chairs will b placed in the amphitheater.

Viennese Theme:

Chairmen Named For Ball

Appointments of committee heads to handle preparations for the second annual Viennese Ball have been completed, according to ball co - chairmen Mrs. James Bentley and Mrs. Alec Matthews, Menlo Park.

The spectacular social event, which is sponsored by the Peninsula Symphony Association, will be held at the Peninsula Golf and Country Club Oct. 22.

"Plans for the ball are in order and the committee is hard at work to assure an even better affair for 1960," Mrs. Bentley said. "Nothing has been overlooked and the 75-piece Peninsula Symphony Orchestra will play Viennese waltzes in an extravagant setting."

Mrs. Bentley also said that last year's authentic Viennese supper, which featured such edibles as "sachertorte" and "spaetzle," will be augmented by additional Austrian dishes.

Those who will aid Mrs. Bentley and Mrs. Matthews are advisory chairman, Mrs. Arthur Lundin, and orchestra liaison chairman, Mrs. Aaron Sten.

Other chairmen include Mrs. John Murray Jr., hospitality; Mrs. Robert L. Clark, patrons; Mrs. Jack Aaroe, program; Mrs. James Bidwell, reservations; Mrs. Richard Murray, invitations, and Mrs. Kenneth Miles, decorations.

Les Miserables:

Dancers Mark Off Calendar

Les Miserables held their annual summer party last Saturday evening with all the color and gaiety of a Mexican Feista. Members Mr. and Mrs. Garth Oxborrow were host and hostess for the affair

Mr. and Mrs. Van Vanderhoeven were general chairmen for the party for which the poolside setting was decorated Mexican style. A buffet dinner, carrying out the evening's theme, was served after which dancing and swimming were enjoyed until the early morning hours.

The Vanderhoevens are the newly elected dance chairmen for the upcoming dance series which includes semi-formal affairs scheduled for the following dates: On Oct. 22, the group will meet at the El Campo Country Club in Newark; on Jan. 28, 1961, at the Villa Hotel in San Mateo; on March 25 at La Rinconada Country Club, and on May 13 at Hyatt House.

Eleanor Farr Becomes Bride Of Alan Clark In Chapel Rites

Eleanor Charlotte Farr and Alan Roderick Clark were married last Saturday afternoon at Stanford University's Memorial Chapel.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Parker Farr of Portola Valley are Eleanor's parents. Her new husband's parents are Dr. and Mrs. H. Murray Clark of San Jose. Alan has one sister, Linda, and two brothers, Stephen and David.

The newlyweds met last summer while traveling throughout European countries. Eleanor is a graduate of the University of California, having taken her first two years at Smith College. Alan is a graduate of Stanford University where he was a Phi Beta Kappa and a member of the Breakers Eating Club.

IVORY GOWN

Eleanor was a striking bride in a gown of light ivory silk mist fashioned in the princess style. The sheer yoke of alencon lace was beaded with pearls. Lace roses trimmed the swag back-bow and the sash. The back fullness of the skirt extended to a court train.

WEDDING PARTY

Cicely Kershaw Tomlinson, a Smith classmate of the bride's, was her honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Karen Williams, Portsmouth, Ohio; Linda Clark, the bridegroom's sister; Gail Swengel, Monterey, a roommate of Eleanor's at the Berkeley university; and Mrs. Edward W. Throndson from Riverside.

Best man for Alan was Stephen Lincoln Brown II from San Jose. Ushers were Edward W. Throndson, James Charles Belda III and Donald Barkley, all roommates of Alan's from Stanford, and John L. Lawrence of Oakland.

The Villa Montalvo, Saratoga, was the setting for a garden reception entertaining some 200 guests. The newly wedded couple left that same evening for Princeton, N. J., where they will live while Alan continues his studies in physics. William H. Sommer of San Jose.

Mrs. Richard Zellerbach, president of the Peninsula Volunteers, introduced the chairman of Derby Day, Mrs. Emmett Cashin, and her committee of which the following are members:

Mrs. Jerrold Bromberg will be in charge of tickets. Mrs. George Diskon of Atherton will handle invitations. Mrs. Barry Livingston will handle the publicity duties. The coordinating committee is composed of Mrs. William Moore, Atherton; Mrs. William Hickey, Woodside; and Mrs. A. M. G. Russell, Atherton.

Proceeds from PV Derby Day are earmarked for the model "retirement apartments" dwelling which the PV's will build in Menlo Park for senior citizens.

Unceasing efforts over the past three years by the Peninsula Volunteers, who also sponsor Little House (Menlo Park's famed activity center for persons over 50) have resulted in the development of a new city planning and zoning classification to permit the erection of retirement housing in normal residential areas. This new classification, retirement living units, was unanimously approved b ythe Menlo Park Planning Commission. Construction of the units will begin shortly.

Tickets to Derby Day may be secured by calling Mrs. Bromberg, DI 4-0197, or Mrs. Diskon, DA 5-4360.

Exciting Tally-Ho Rates Raves

Tea House of the August Moon . . .

Even the most casual observer of the local scene would be impressed, even awed, by the tremendous job localites do in raising funds for worthwhile charities and causes.

An outstanding example of the invention and planning that goes into these fund-raising affairs was last Saturday night's Tally-Ho Party of the August Moon and the Horse Show staged by the Woodside-Atherton Junior Auxiliary to the Stanford Convalescent Home at the Menlo Circus Club.

It would be hard to imagine a party more attractive to the eye, more appealing to every taste or more carefully planned for the enjoyment of the 3000 Midpeninsulites who enjoyed Tally-Ho from 8 a.m. until the wee hours of the morning.

Auxiliary members this year set themselves to provide an extravaganza that would be almost impossible to improve upon. The program was divided into sections, with two completely separate horse shows, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, dominating the daytime activities, which included a Walt Disney movie for children.

FAIRYLAND

As the lights, strung in Oriental lanterns and suspended throughout the poolside area, came on, the party was transformed into a startlingly beautiful Oriental fairyland. An elaborate fashion show, graced by charming models, gathered the crowd during the cocktail hour. Canapes were dispensed from Yaketori carts before dinner was served.

Models appeared against the background of a large red-roofed August Moon teahouse with white walls and black and gold trim, built specifically for the gala party. Before starting their parade around the pool, models walked through a large red and black Torii gate. At each corner of the pool were hand-carved Japanese granite lanterns and the traditional garden bridges.

A large red and gold stylized dragon surrounding a fountain dominated the pool. The lanterns above the pool in various shades of blue were elaborately beaded.

The game and refreshment booths carried out the Oriental theme, each built to resemble a Japanese tea house. Among the more popular concession prizes were still more imported objects of art from the Orient.

CHINESE ROBES

An unusual and crowd-pleasing addition to the style promenade was a collection of Chinese ceremonial robes, modeled exquisitely by models from San Francisco's Chinatown, among them Carol Ng, "Miss Chinatown." These same models also showed modern Chinese styles.

The western fashions, which were enthusiastically received by the audience, were modeled by Auxiliary members.

Highlights of the evening activities were the horse show, beautifully staged and announced, and the auction of the decorations, a unique feature of this year's party.

Ben Alexander, as auctioneer, was amusing as always and proved to be a very persuasive salesman. Moving into the clubhouse from the original outdoor setting, the auction sale accomplished its purpose of selling the art objects so effectively used for party decorations.

Mrs. Robert Sheffield, chairman of the Auxiliary, was the personification of grace and charm as she greeted guests at the honor table, still keeping a hundred small details in smooth working order.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Ritter

shared congratulations for her job as chairman in charge of decorations. They and their committee had worked all day and far into the evening on Friday, as well as on the day of the party, putting up previously fabricated decorations. As they received the plaudits of friends on the spectacular decor, Mrs. Ritter smiled as Dr. Ritter displayed hands well-nicked from carpentry work.

Mrs. Edson Piers, one of the models, received special applause from a corner table where her parents, the Buck Shaws, Mr. and Mrs. John Blackinger and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Lee were sitting.

Mrs. Robert Brisacher divided her time between duties as publicity chairman for the party and guests from both the Peninsula and Marin County.

Person to Parson:

Church Sets Sept. 18 For Fall Picnic

The grassy, shaded grounds of the Hillview School on Santa Cruz avenue have been chosen as the place for the Person to Parson Picnic of the Menlo Park Presbyterian Church to be held Sunday, Sept. 18, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

This site was chosen as it is large enough to hold the entire congregation, children included. Following the picnic meal, children of grade school age and younger will take part in supervised play activities on another part of the school grounds. Other picnicers, from junior high school age on up, will remain in the eating area to participate in the discussion period to follow.

The purpose of the picnic is to bring the people of the church and the minister together to consider the unique opportunities and privileges given to the church in these anxious days of world tension.

The Rev. Roland W. Anderson will set the tone of the meeting with brief introductory remarks. Later, following group discussion, he will answer questions from members.

A Versatile Dessert:

Mrs. Norman E. McFate Shares Popular Chocolate Cake Recipe

"Join us for coffee and cake." An often repeated invitation that covers anything from an informal neighborhood gathering, an evening business meeting held at home, a dessert bridge or an after-party bid when something sweet seems in order to top off a gay weekend evening.

Mrs. Norman E. McFate has found what she considers the perfect recipe for a chocolate cake with a lush frosting that tempts even the most conscientious calorie counter.

Dr. McFate often holds evening meetings in the couple's Atherton home. Mrs. McFate comments that in the case that several varieties of cake are served, the chocolate cake with a pecan and coconut filling is always the most popular.

Sweet Chocolate Cake

1 package of sweet cooking chocolate
½ cup boiling water
1 cup butter or margarine
2 cup sugar
4 egg yolks, unbeaten
1 tsp vanilla
2½ cups sifted flour
1 tsp soda
½ tsp salt
1 cup buttermilk
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Melt chocolate in ½ cup of boiling water. Cool. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating after each addition. Add vanilla and melted chocolate. Mix until blended. Sift flour with soda and salt. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk beating after each addition. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into three 8- or 9-inch layer pans, lined with paper. Bake at 350 degrees F., 30-45 minutes. Cool. Frost top and between layers with pecan filling and frosting. Ample for 12. A rich, moist cake that keeps well.

Coconut Pecan Filling and Frosting

1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
½ pound butter
1 tsp. vanilla
1 1-3 cups flaked coconut
1 cup chopped pecans

Combine milk, sugar, egg yolks, butter and vanilla in saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens or about 12 minutes. Remove from heat. Add coconut and pecans. Beat until cool and of spreading consistency. Makes enough to cover tops of three 8- or 9-inch layers, or about 2 2-3 cups of frosting and filling.

Jean McFate's cake recipe will be seen in print elsewhere in the very near future. A member of the Menlo-Atherton Auxiliary to the Retarded Children's Guild, Mrs. McFate, with other members, is deep in plans for the group's second elaborate November dessert-bridge fund raising party.

Each member contributes her best and most special dessert to the afternoon affair. Last year so much interest was evinced in the recipes that the Auxiliary this year will print and bind a recipe folder containing the formulas for desserts served for the fall benefit.

Can I Help? . . .

. . . Mrs. Norman E. McFate pauses while sifting the dry ingredients for her popular Sweet Chocolate Cake to explain to Joann 20 months, that the mixer will be used again after the buttermilk is added. Jean McFate's tempting cake will appear at an elaborate dessert bridge which she and her fellow members of the Menlo-Atherton Auxiliary to the Retarded Children's Home will present in November. Dr. and Mrs. McFate live in Atherton with their two daughters, Joann and Patty, aged 4.

Final plans have been completed for the ninth annual St. Pius Fashion Show, "World of Enchantment," which promises to be a visual delight, both from the aspect of the cruise clothes to be shown and the background of beautifully tended formal gardens.

Mrs. William G. Moore, general chairman, has selected Mrs. Ralph K. Davies of Woodside as her honorary chairman and Mrs. Gloria Tehaney as her co-chairman.

Alumnae Break Record

Mrs. Clayton W. Frye Jr. of 831 Roble avenue, Menlo Park, area chairman for the Monticello College alumnae Challenge Fund, received word this week that the nationwide campaign had not only reached its goal, but has gone over the top.

Monticello President Duncan Wimpress notified all local chairmen that their efforts were responsible for achieving the highest number of alumnae participating in the history of the Alton, Ill., women's college annual alumnae fund program.

In issuing the challenge for wider alumnae participation, 10 Monticello graduates pledged up to $1000 each if the number of alumnae gifts would be increased by 10 per cent. Through the efforts of local chairmen in communities in 38 states, the percentage of participation was raised to over 22.5 per cent, well over the amount required to meet the Challenge.

Contributions totaled over $11,000, plus the $10,000 from the Challengers, making the largest total income from alumnae gifts ever recorded in Monticello's 125-year history.

Income will be used for support of the Distinguished Faculty phase of Monticello's well-known Program for Progress.

Summer Wedding Planned

Wilbur W. Hansen Jr. of Menlo Park will claim Gail Douglas as his bride next summer, according to a recent announcement made by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Douglas of Millbrae.

Gail, a graduate of Presentation School in San Francisco and the College of Notre Dame will continue studies in the field of social service at Washington University in St. Louis in the fall.

Wilbur will attend the University of California where he will begin graduate work for the fulfillment of a master's degree. He is a graduate of Menlo-Atherton High School and the University of Santa Clara.

Rummage Sale

A rummage sale, sponsored by Menlo Park Job's Daughters, Bethel 242, will be held on Friday, Aug. 26, from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m. and on Saturday, Aug. 27, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The sale will be at the old Purity store on the corner of Marshall and Arguello in Redwood City.
